Bernd Moehle

More than 20 years of professional experience in an exceptionally wide range of corporate, cultural, and interpersonal environments have enabled Bernd to be deeply grounded in the leadership subjects that are on every CEO's agenda. He is a dynamic and effective change agent who possesses a clear understanding of the challenges which leaders face in times of individual transition and changing business environments.

In his early career stages Bernd acquired a master degree in economy, with a major in Human Resources Management. In previous corporate responsibilities he drove Global and European leadership and talent development functions and has also headed a global human resources function of a multinational enterprise covering 40 Countries.

Over the past 15 years Bernd has deployed people development initiatives on five continents. Clients include big multinational companies, SMEs, Family-owned Enterprises, NGOs as well as ambitious non-profit organisations.

Bernd is an internationally certified executive coach and team coach. He is also an experienced user of numerous diagnostic tools, 360 evaluations, and enthusiastic Action Learning practitioner. He is the founding principal of International Executive Development.

Besides his openness, credibility and trustworthiness, clients equally like the early and tangible results, which Bernd delivers.

Bernd is German citizen. He has lived with his wife in Switzerland for many years. He is fluent in his three working languages English, German and French.
